

Advocacy volunteer role description and info

We're looking for a Volunteer Environmental Reviewer as part of Nature Conservation Margaret River Region's advocacy program.

Are you passionate about conservation in our region? Do you have experience in writing about environmental impacts? We're looking for a dedicated individual to help as a Volunteer Environmental Reviewer.

Role

As a Volunteer Environmental Reviewer, you'll play an important role in identifying proposals with potential impacts on our local environment and preparing submissions as part of a small team. Your insights will ensure that we take the opportunity to make submissions where they are needed, and help to minimise the ecological impacts of development in our beautiful region.

Flexible Commitment

Volunteer on your schedule, from home. The role will involve approximately 2 days per month.

Skills and experience

The ideal volunteer will have:

- A passion for environmental conservation
- Attention to detail and analytical mindset.
- Ability to work collaboratively with a small team.
- Access to a computer and the internet.
- Strong writing and communication skills.
- Background in environmental science, ecology or similar.

Get in touch

Join our team today and help shape a sustainable future for generations to come.

To apply please email your cv and contact details to board advisor and advocacy team member Emma Scaife at escaife@outlook.com.au.